*House of Commons e-Petition to the Government of Canada about Recommendation to End Religious Charitable Tax Status – August 15, 2025 Deadline

The House of Commons Finance Committee's pre-budget report proposes removing the "advancement of religion" as a recognized charitable purpose under the Income Tax Act, as well as revoking charitable status from organizations which are against abortion. A House of Commons e-petition to keep these tax statuses opened on June 16, 2025 and has a deadline of August 15, 2025.

The petition reads:

Whereas:

Recommendation 430 of the House of Commons Finance Committee's pre-budget report proposes removing the "advancement of religion" as a recognized charitable purpose under the Income Tax Act;

Recommendation 429 proposes revoking charitable status from anti-abortion organizations;

Religious charities in Canada provide vital services to society, including food banks, care for seniors, family supports, assisting newcomers, youth programs, and mental health outreach — all rooted in their faith traditions;

These communities promote hope, belonging, social cohesion, and compassion, benefiting both their members and the broader public;

Freedom of religion and belief are fundamental rights in Canada, protected by the Charter of Rights and Freedoms; and

Singling out or excluding faith-based charities from the charitable sector based on religious belief undermines the diversity and pluralism foundational to Canadian society;

We, the undersigned, citizens and residents of Canada, call upon the Government of Canada to:

1. Reject Recommendations 429 and 430 of the House of Commons Finance Committee's pre-budget report;
2. Refrain from including these recommendations in the federal budget or any related legislation; and
3. Affirm the charitable status of faith-based organizations whose work flows from sincerely held beliefs and whose contributions serve the common good in Canada.

Deadline: August 15, 2025

Please sign and share the petition to keep religious charitable tax status:
